Title of the project	Unplanned and unwanted pregnancies in the emergency room- implications for providing contraceptive counseling
Comprehensive description of the project: rationale, methods, approach, outcome (max 500 words)	Unplanned and unwanted pregnancies are common in Sweden which has the highest number of abortions in Western Europe. In a retrospective study we could show that approximately 40% of ectopic pregnancies are a result of unwanted pregnancies. However, less than half of women received any contraceptive counseling at the end of treatment and were thus left with a risk of repeat unwanted pregnancy (submitted). We now wish to perform a prospective study to further explore the problem of unplanned and unwanted pregnancies in especially ectopic pregnancy, miscarriage and hyperemesis gravidarum. In this project all pregnant women seeking emergency care in the gynecological emergency room of Danderyd Hospital will be informed about the study and sign informed consent according to GCP should they choose to participate. Women will fill in an online questionnaire concerning demographic parameters, gynecological and obstetric history as the well as the London Measure of Unplanned pregnancy. They will receive care according to current clinical routine. Three months after the first visit they will receive another online questionnaire concerning outcome of their pregnancy and any contraceptive counseling received. They will also answer questions regarding any sick leave taken or granted for a health economic analysis of unplanned and unwanted pregnancy. Women with severe emergencies demanding immediate care will be excluded as will women with insufficient knowledge of the Swedish language (if results warrant a larger study- the questionnaires will be translated into the most common immigrant languages for future studies)
